Environmental Reporting Fellowships September 2010–June 2011

Fellowship Application

Traditionally under represented minority journalists from all media are invited to apply for a Metcalf Institute Environmental Reporting Fellowship. Eligible journalists must have no less than one year of professional journalism experience, U.S. citizenship and a demonstrated interest in furthering their environmental and science reporting skills and expanding environmental news coverage.

Each 42-week fellowship includes orientation, environmental justice workshop, four weeks of scientific study, and nine months working as a reporter covering science and the environment at a news outlet. The fellowship provides a stipend of $32,000 and limited compensation for travel.

Submit the original and one copy of all application materials. Information will be used only to evaluate applicants. Materials will not be returned except on request.

Please complete all items. Applications must be postmarked by: March 29, 2010 (deadline extended).

Resume

Provide a copy of your resume.

Essay

Provide a 1000-word essay that briefly describes your work and goals as a journalist. Why are you interested in a Metcalf Fellowship and how would it benefit you? Finally, describe three areas of marine and environmental science that you would like to study at URI and two or three topics you would like to cover as an environmental reporter if selected for a fellowship.

Professional Work Samples

Do not use scrapbooks or presentation folders. No application materials will be returned, except on request.

Print Journalists. Send no more than three articles or photographs. Clippings must be dated and legible and printed on 8.5" x 11" paper.

Photo Journalists. Send no more than ten photographs with captions. Photos in print or on CD or DVD are acceptable.

Broadcast Journalists. Send links to—or CDs and/or DVDs of—three and no more than three works. Include a brief typed description of the work identifying dates of broadcasts and media outlet(s).

Electronic Journalists. Send no more than three printouts on 8.5" x 11" paper of work published on the Web. Provide URLs where your work may be read or downloaded.

References

Two confidential letters of reference should be sent directly to the Metcalf Institute from references. Your references should evaluate your abilities as a journalist. One letter must be from your current immediate supervisor or, for freelancers, from an editor who has most recently worked closely with you.

Organize your application package in the following order (please do not staple):

1. Application Form
2. Resume
3. Essay
4. Professional work samples

Submit the original and one copy of all application materials.
